Forklift Course

Forklift Operators Course

Forklift Operators earn between $20 and $25 per hour.

Training in the effective and safe use of forklifts may open job opportunities in several industries (retail, horticulture, logistics).

Becoming a forklift operator requires a Forklift Operators Certificate as a minimum and if driving on a road, an F endorsement on their licence.

The Forklift Operators Certificate has to be refreshed every three years.

You can complete one or both certifications in the same day. Half-day refresher courses are also available.

NZQA UNIT STANDARDS

Forklift Operator Certificate: US 10851

F endorsement: US 18496

To gain credit for this unit standard and obtain an F (forklift) driver licence endorsement must hold a current full class 1 (car) driver licence.
